

NETC is accepting applications for 2006 Olmsted Scholarship

The Naval Education and Training Command is accepting applications from regular or reserve commissioned line officers for the 2006 Olmsted Scholarship Program until Sept. 30.

Officers with at least three years of active-duty service – but no more than 11 years – are eligible to apply for the program. Selected officers serve as full-time students in a two-year graduate internship at a foreign university. Students normally study in a language other than English, and are expected to live on the local economy, travel widely, and be affiliated with U.S. embassies or consulates for administrative purposes only.

Final Scholarship selections, designation of foreign universities students will attend, and the specific area of concentration will be determined by the Foundation Board in April 2005. Recipients can expect to begin language training in the fall of 2005 at the Defense Language Institute or a comparable course of instruction, with foreign university studies beginning in 2006.

Preferred courses of study include Social and Political Sciences, History and International Relations. Other non-technical or non-science choices made by the scholar may be authorized.
